Kayak Reliance Tandem

Producto nº

468

This boat has a comfortable feel to it. The length gives an incredibly calm, unhurried impression even when the boat is travelling at top speed. The beam of 28.75" provides room for cargo and gives a stability that makes kayaking in any weather comfortable.

Moderate flare above the waterline will increase the stability as the boat heels. Two water tight compartments with access only by deck hatches provide enough flotation to keep the boat afloat in the event of a capsize.

This stable load carrier is excellent for the novice kayaker. It will inspire confidence and lead to continued enjoyment of the sport. Like the 14 footer, the rocker has been reduced aft to aid in tracking ability. The beam is ample at 25.4" and the cockpit has been widened to match.

The hull is a very shallow vee, the flattest of the hulls shown here - to permit the width for stability and yet maintain a moderate displacement. Developed in response to requests from heavier and wider paddlers who wanted a shorter boat. Maximum beam of 25.4 compared with the 17 footer at 23.5 is more stable and has good load capacity. Average load is 260 lbs., but it can handle up to 340 without a problem.

Designed by Steve Killing, Length 16' 6", Beam 25.4", Weight 45#

Circa 1760-1780

The four-poster bed is one of the most romantic pieces of furniture to adorn any bedroom. In Europe and in Colonial America it was considered both practical and very prestigious item to own.

This stately four-poster Chippendale bed is copied from one made in New England in the latter part of the 18th Century.

The foot posts have bold and massive ball and claw feet that flow into intricately carved knees supporting stop-f luted posts. They are topped with a delicately carved finial. The head posts are identical except the feet are made of 3" square stock. The top of the large curved headboard is 47" from the floor. The side and foot rails are solid mahogany, held to the post with mortise and tenon and bolts.

Offered in mahogany only. The bed measures 85 1/2" high with the bedding height at approximately 27 ". Available in double, queen and king size.
